The day that Bill came home from war, — He walked right up to his girl's door, — A think-in'
And then she start-ed to ex-plain, — A-bout an un-cle up in Maine, — Whopassed a-what a lov-in' wel-come he'd re-ceive. — For quite a while he sat away and left her mon-ey by the peck. — And 'bout the time she thought he'd round, — And then his smile turned to a frown, — He says "it looks to me like I have been de-fall, — Old William said "let that be all," — Don't try to cram that fai-ry sto-ry down my ceived." — While I was fight-ing "o-ver there," it seems to me you've been un-fair. neck. — Be-fore I start-ed "o-ver there," You gave your word that you'd play fair.

Who's — been play-in' pa - pa 'round here while I've been gone, — Who's — the slack-er, you've been

Who's — the mon-key, you've been train-ing your af - fee-tions on. — You've got a bran' new way of kiss-in' that you nev - er learned from wast-ing your af - fee-tions on. — lov - in' me, — And there's lots of things a - roun' this house that nev-er did I see, — Them cut - glass

And you talk of plac-es where you've been that nev-er did I see, — That large Vic - dish-es was-n't here the day I left. — I sure-ly hate to think you've done me wrong. — tro - la was-n't here the day I left, —

But them stockings of silk and im-port-ed hats Thirty dol-lars a month would never buy all that, Now

But that hair-y faced dog and a Chev-ro - lay, Ne-ver could have been purchas'd with a soldier's pay who's been pa - pa 'round here while I have been gone? — gone? —
