For he's a Sai-lor of the U. S. A. And a He'll make those German Sub-marines look sick When his right good Sailor too — He is just as hap-py as a child of three As he sails the O - cean ship goes out to sea — They'll be go-ing to the bot-tom might-y quick It's the place they ought to blue, — In his lit-tle suit and his hat so cute, And his heart is ev-er true, — He was be, — With a nine inch gun he will make them run, He will wipe them off the map, — Just you nev-er known to quail, At the fur-y of a gale and I'm might-y proud of you. — take a tip from me, They'll be might-y sick at sea when they fin-ish with this scrap. —

CHORUS

Oh Da-vy of the Na-vy you're a won-der-ful, won-der-ful boy, — You took a no-tion to sail the o - cean And you fill my heart with joy, — When you hop and you skip on your old battle ship you simply car-ry me a - way — go on surround 'em and then you'll drown 'em, it's up to you to win the day, (go get 'em)

Race 'em go on and chase 'em sink all those German Sub-ma - rines, Play them just like a child plays with a toy, — Sailor boy, — Do what Admiral Dewey did go on and sink that fleet, Make the German Kaiser holler out and say defeat Oh Da-vy of the Na-vy you're a wonderful, wonderful boy. — Oh boy. —
