Way down in Lou-si-an-a our old south-ern home, Where ev-'ry-bo-dy's Miss Jane has promised that she would soon mar-ry me, We'll cel-e-brate and hap-py, jol-ly and gay Where you see the dark-ies in the cot-ton fields have a big ju-bi-lee in our bun-ga-low in Lou-i-si-an-a and the pret-ty girls a serv-ing tea Then ev-'ry eve-ning when there is a bright moon near the hon-ey bees and sug-ar cane We'll be so hap-py Lov-ing as we can be neath the old ap-ple tree we all spoon there's a new song on that I'll there's none to com-pare with Jane and me we'll all dance and play the old play for you when you call Sun - day af - ter - noon..... vi - o - lin ev - 'ry morn - ing till noon and night.....

CHORUS

Down in Lou-si-an - a down with Jane and you that's where the south-ern girls live that we love so

Hear them call - ing while the raindrops are falling We all want to spoon we are so lonesome too The darkies danc-ing and the birds are sing - ing to a good old south-ern tune..... Way down south in Dix - ie where the cot-ton grows 'Neath the Lou-si - an - a moon. Down in moon.
