sway-ing, you hear gal-lants say-ing, "We love her so!" Her smil-ing glanc-es en-tranc-es her night, ev-ry night in the light of the moon you hear, Her gal-lants all soft-ly call, soft-ly danc-es but they all know There's some-thing more they ad-ore, love her for, that has made her call, "Wont you meet us, dear? Well have a dance and a song, come a-long to the vil-lage queen. They love to see Ka-tink-a shake a tam-bour-ine. green. And show us how you can shake a tam-bour-ine!"

CHORUS p-f

When Ka - tink - a shakes her tam-bour-ine and sings a lit - - tle song, From sev-en-ty to sev-en-teen, they fol-low her a - long. She has a smile for Os-ko-vitch, for Mos-co-vitch and Paul; She loves one best, but don't know which, and so she loves them all. — She gives her heels a lit-tle click, and then she glides a - -long, And ev-'ry time she does a kick a Bol-she-vick goes wrong; The band may play Rach - man - i - noff, you nev - er know what's com - in' off, When Ka -

-tink - a shakes her tam - bour - ine and sings her lit - tle song. When Ka - song. — D.S.
