

THE DAISY AND THE BUTTERFLY

SUNG WITH GREAT SUCCESS BY

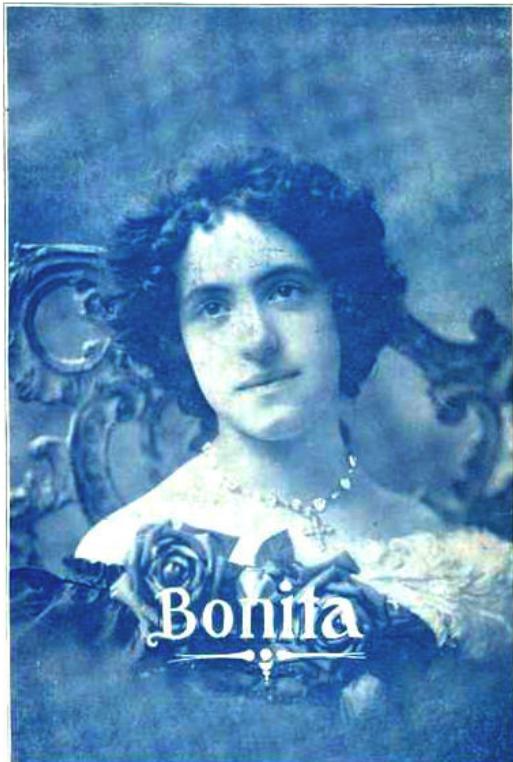

WORDS BY

SAM EHRlich

Music by

ROBT A. KEISER

FEIST & PUBLISHED BY FRANKENTHALER B. FELDMAN - 9 BERNERS ST. W.
LONDON, ENG. 36 WEST 28th ST.
NEAR BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
TORONTO, CAN. WHALEY, ROYCE & CO.

5

“The Daisy and the Butterfly.”

Words by SAM EHRLICH.

The original Melody for Chorus of this song adopted from Abe Holzman's famous Success “HUNKY DORY” by ROB'T A. KEISER.

Moderato.

Piano.

VOICE.

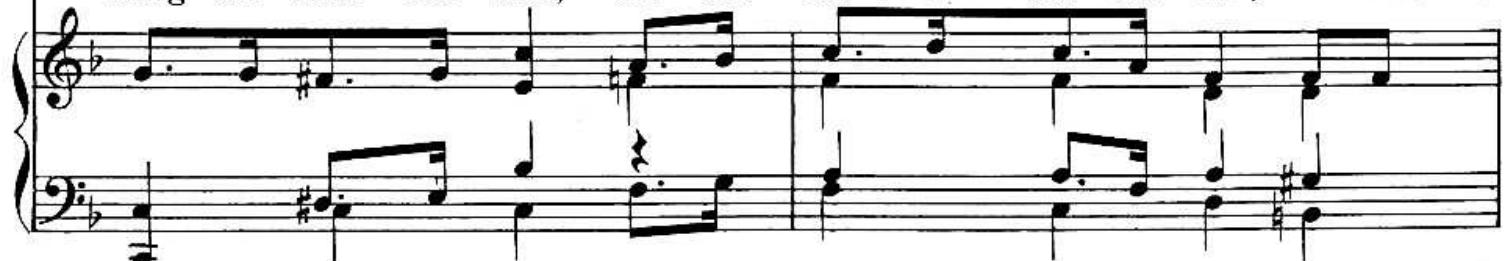

1.'Neath the shade of tower-ing trees, In the
2. When the moon-beam's glow-ing light, Made the sum-mer morn-ing breeze, flew a but-ter-fly of rain - bow hue, His earth look clear and bright, and the rob-in red-breast ceased his lay, Ev'ry heart was filled with love, as he gazed so sad a - bove, and thing was calm and still, 'till the sun beamed o'er the hill, 'twas the watched a dai - sy that he loved so true. When the crys - tal dew had gone with the break-ing of an - o - ther sum - mer day. Sat the but - ter - fly a - gain with his break-ing of the morn, sat the but-ter-fly all through the love-ly day, As the heart so full of pain won't you be my love-ly bride, oh do, I pray, Then once shades of night drew near, when the twink - ling stars ap - pear, to his more the night drew nigh, and the dai - sy she did sigh, and in la - dy love in words so sweet did say:

plead - ing tones the but - ter - fly did say:

Chorus.

You are my Dai - sy, I'm your But - ter - fly,

Just say the word, dear, far a-way we'll fly,

High up a bove dear, up to the sky,

You will be the Dai-sy for this But-ter-fly.

1.                   2.