EXTRA VERSES

3. I slipped on a new bannana peel
And on the street I flopped,
A copper rushed right up and sez,
"Oh Dear, see what you've dropped.

4. I started in a revolving door
Tried to keep my wits about
But found instead of goin' in
That I was comin' out.

5. Sally Rose sat on a tack
That's how the story goes,
Sally Rose sat on a tack
Little– Sally–Rose!

6. I asks the porter why we're late
He sez, "Too many folks rides,
The train in front's behind and we're
Behind, Befo', Besides!"

7. A bull-dog ate a honey bee,
And it went to his equator,
It stung him some, in his tummy-tum,
And he weren't so gladiator.

8. My hair is growing in again,
I surely ought to shout,
My gal replied, "It's sure too bad
That it's not growing out.

9. I got myself a crazy mule,
Ain't got him very long,
His will is very very weak,
But his won't is very strong.

10. I went to call on a girl last Fall,
She had a bumble-bee,
I rolled my eyes up toward the skies,
And the bee got stuck on me.

11. He kissed a sweet young country maid,
And then jumped on a train;
She neither raved nor tore her hair,
She had his watch and chain.

12. When the Donkey saw the Zebra,
He began to switch his tail,
He sezs, "I never knew before,
That they put us mules in jail.

13. There was a man got on the train
With a ticket for Jerusalem,
He slipped on an old banana peel,
And fell on his methoozalem.

14. An apple came to a railroad track,
And started right across,
The rain came down, a train came 'round,
Toot! Toot! Toot! apple sauce!

EXTRA VERSES

15. A steam-roller rolled on a tailor's dog,
And the little old dog went West,
Now he don't go to the tailor no mo',
Because his pants is pressed.

16. I asked a sailor, "Tell me why,
You call a ship a "She"?
He sez, "Because there are so many Buoys upon the Sea."

17. A bee sat on a hickory limb,
And fussed, and fussed, and fussed,
A flapper sat right down on him
And cussed, and cussed, and cussed.

18. He paid no heed to the traffic cop,
But raced along pell-mell;
The Doctor told the Sexton, and
The Sexton tolled the Bell.

19. A Cowboy walked a railroad track,
A train was coming fast,
The train got off the railroad track
And let the Cowboy past.

20. The woodpecker wept in deep dismay,
As the shades of evening stole,
For he had pecked the live-long day
On an iron telephone pole.

21. A swim I took in a babblin' brook,
With a turtle down below,
I bumped my toe against his door,
Now there ain't no toe no more.

22. A Red-Bug married an Angle-Worm,
And a spade cut her in two,
Now he is charged with bigamy,
And the old Red-Bug is blue.

23. A gal once bid for Diamonds,
For a Heart her sweetheart played,
Her father trumped him with a Club,
And the Sexton used a spade.

24. She used to do an Apache dance,
A sweet artistic sight,
Until by some unhappy chance,
The patch came off one night!

25. A man stood underneath a bridge,
The bridge fell on his head,
"'Twas death by fallen arches, folks,"
The coroner's jury said.

26. Now, once there was a College Gal
Who hired a horse to ride,
That night when she went up to bed
She slept upon her side.
