Andante Moderato.

Voice.

I've heard Mis - ter Sou - sa's Band
And I've heard them ches - ty Wops

Piano.

play - ing the sweet mu - sic grand, And watched the white folks in the spa - ghet - ti shops, Sing Chee - ri - wee - ri - stare, Just like they's see - ing things — in the wee, But that ain't no new song — a for air, me, But Nor I their nev - er seemed — — to old "Fun - ic - u care. li." Then I have heard all the coons I've wait - ed on ta - ble when play - ing their rag - time tunes, But I could nev - er smile. 'Cause I six star - ving trav - ling men, Eat - ing their soup so fast. That the nev - er liked their style, For their rags ceased to be guile. But I'm mu - sic while it last, Had a big brass band out - classed. But there's cra - zy 'bout one strain, — I'd like to hear it once a - gain. Oh — one song for this coon, — So just slip me that Dev - lin' tune.

Chorus.

Won't you play for me that Dev'-lin' tune, That's it, That's the one I loves to hear, That's the kind that makes you want to spoon, Lor - dy hear them fid - dles sing - in' in__ your ear__ It sounds like bees a hum - min', like gui - tars a strum - min', Like re - li - gions' com - in' sure as fate, Come on you

(SPOKEN.)

De - ve - lin' tune_ Hear that Ba - by Dont be late I hear it

com - in' on a - gain, don't let it stop mf-f

I just can't keep still, I got to glide - a - round.

If I don't stand up my feet will pop I just can't keep ei-ther of them on the ground Re-mem-ber hon-ey dear, my heart is weak I fear That you will stop 'em play-in' it too soon, Come on you Re-ve-lin' Dev'-lin' tune.
