

More than tongue
can tell.

WORDS BY
JOHN J. PUDERER
MUSIC BY
BOB. HOFFMANN

5

PUBLISHED BY
L. GRUNEWALD CO. LTD
735 CANAL ST. - NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HOLMES CO.
MUSIC DEPT.
NEW ORLEANS

Dedicated to Miss Alice M Quinn.

More Than Tongue Can Tell.

Words by JOHN J. PUDERER.

Music by BOB HOFFMAN.

Tempo di Valse.

ff

rit.

Be-neath sha - dy trees in a sum - mer
Well of course I know that some oth - er breeze Up - on an old rus - tic seat Sat a beau Says to him you're all the world While some hap - py pair who had oft met there Just to tell their oth - er one swears by you - der sun That he loves no

Copyright MCMV by John J. Puderer.

love tales sweet Soon the maid - en oth - er girl- But one can't say said, wont you please go head, "Tell of your love so much when there love is such, That one can not ex - true." But the boy just smiled and said wait a plain Lit - tle one don't sigh and I'll tell you

rit.
while Then these words I'll say to you"
why If you lis - ten once a - gain.
rit.

REFRAIN.

5

More than tongue can tell, Sue, That's how much I love

p

you Oth - er boys may bring you joys when they woo.

But I cant ex-press, dear, What I would when you're

p

near, For I love, I love you more than tongue can tell.

rit.