Moderato

Piano

you and me He gives you pep That makes you jazz-es home He hes-i-tates then op-er-step His ton-ic wins first prize Hear the Doc pre-ates With his big sax-o-phone Just make an ap-scribe it I just can't de-scribe it That sweet dose of danc-ing ex-er-cise.

point-ment get some of his oint-ment It makes pa-tients smile but nev-er groan.

Chorus

The South knows Doc - tor Jazz — whose fam-ous Raz - ma-taz — kills the thought of am-pup-f tat-ed booze He cures the ve-ry black-est blues

He us - es just a pair of wick-ed danc-ing shoes— Here's just a slight de-scrip-

- tion of his best pre-scrip - tion you'll see the jazz-bos take it with a smile

Di - rec-tions are sim - ply step for-ward and back— Shake be-fore jazz-

- in' then ball the jack— It's sure a won - d'rous mix - ture its a south - ern fix-ture It's old Doc-tor Jazz-es Raz-ma-taz. — The South knows - taz. —

Patter

Folks have heard this cure in both the East and West—

Eve - ry - where I find it stands the ac - id test—

Eve - ry one who hears it swal - lows it right down—

Then they start a step - pin' round—

Performers may omit any couplet or couplets desired

Cleopatra's dead but she just can't behave
 Just a little drop and she shook in her grave Played it for the sphinx right near the river Nile Sphinxy winks and starts to smile.

Transit was on strike and business sure was slack
 Just a drop and all the cars sped down the track
 The old ladies home heard this sweet melody
 Each old lady shook her knee.
