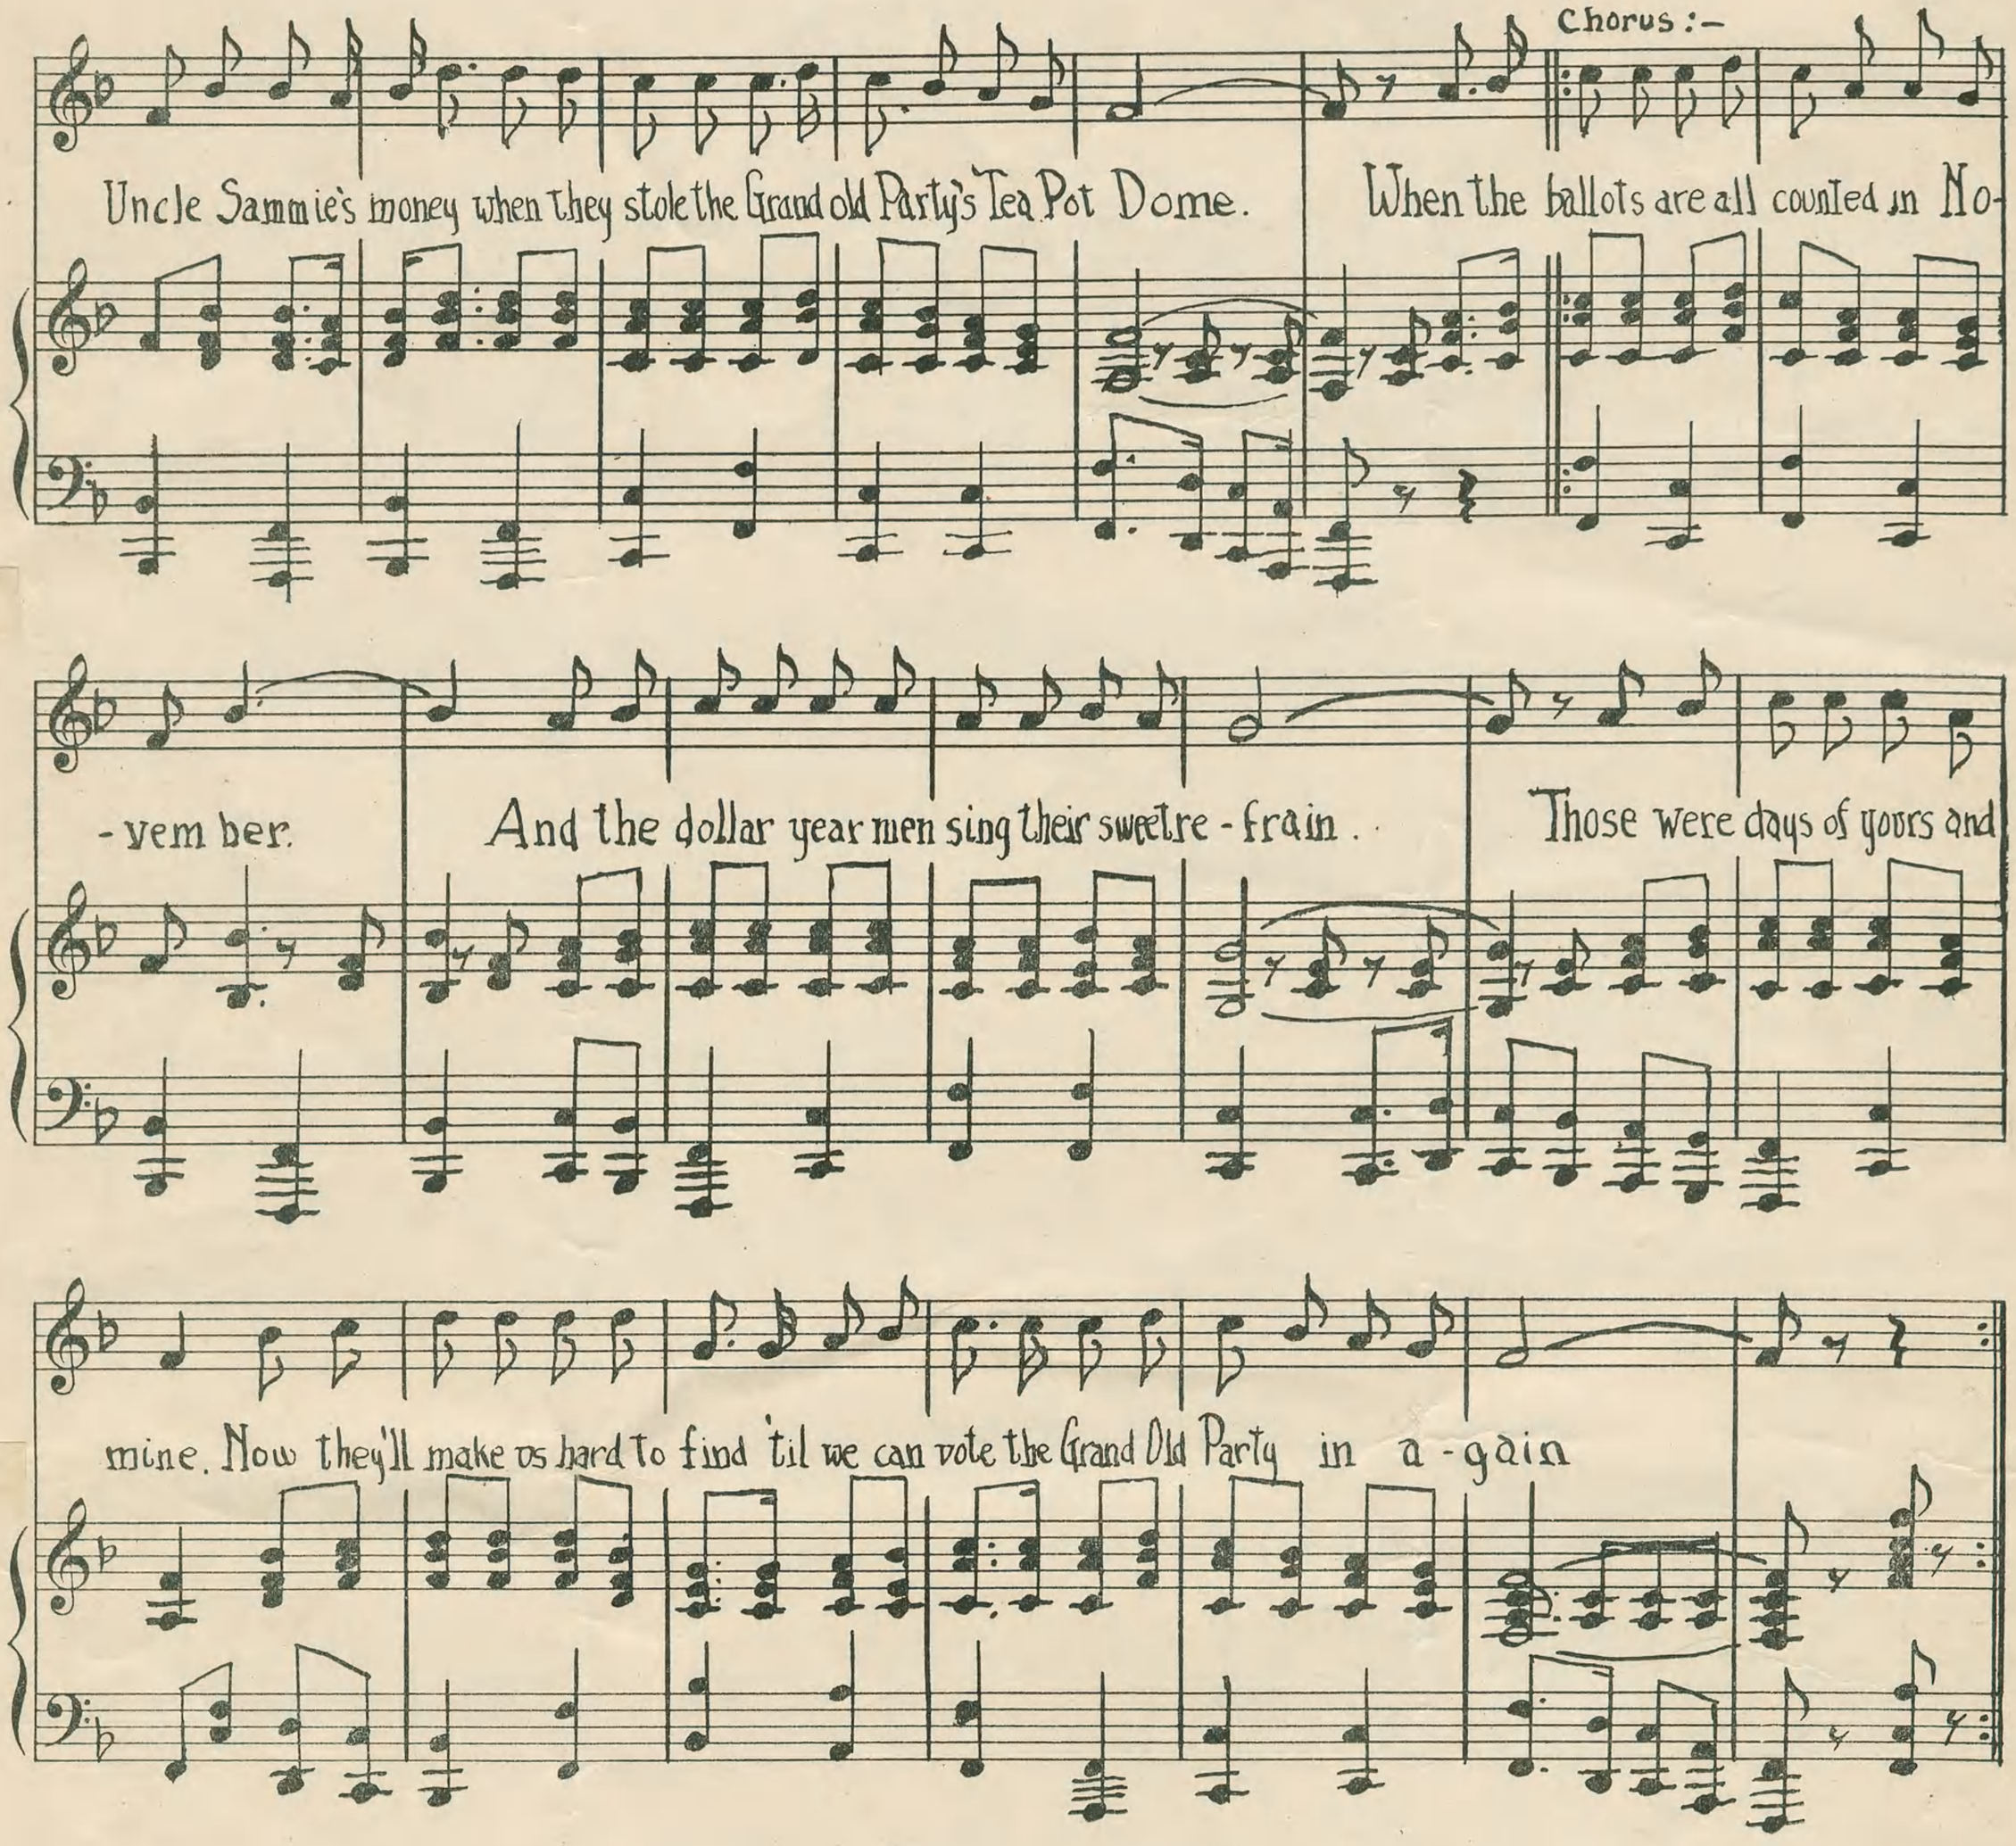
With vigor :-

Oh e-lection time am comin and the voters they are wise And the Grand old Party has the oily blues. They are in a bad pos ition we have all the am-u-nition and we know we have them shaking in their shoes. We have certain information and the evidence is strong And we know the voters will not stay at home. About three hunks of old bo-lo-gna taking



(Second Verse)

Now the women have the franchise and the absentee can vote,
And we nearly all have cellars in our homes.
Supposed to have a bone dry nation, still there's plenty of lubrication.
Thanks to Mr. Volsted and the TEA POT DOME.
There's the rural population, they would like an even break
With the people in the city and the town.
Coolidge vetoed their legislation, now they demand an explanation
Why he made the promise, then he turned it down.

(Second Chorus)

Now we see the farmer gulp his adam's apple,
For eight long years they've shoved it down his throat.
He slips out behind the barn, says "By heck, we'll run this farm
With all Donkeys and we'll get the Elephant's Goat.

(Third Verse)

They have found Sinclair "not guilty," so we add these few more lines
In order that we may apologize.
Though perhaps another jury, who in justice to OLD GLORY,
Would have rendered that decision otherwise.
All men are free and equal in this good old U. S. A.,
And the Democratic Party they are fair.
The rich men pull the boners while Babe Ruth he knocks
the homers,
Mr. Hayes and Andy Mellon pull their hair.

(Third Chorus)

When Big Interests cease to buy their legislation
And refuse the G O P their campaign funds,
Then we know we have them whipped, the public's tired of being gypped,
And a Democrat's elected two to one.
