Moderato. marcato.

When thoughts turn fondly back-ward to days of youth's sweet spell I Her ten-der lov-ing let-ters came faith-ful ly to me Un-seem to see a fair face of one I loved so well Whose til A-las! there came one I o-pened eag-er ly She smile so sweet and win-ning that to my mind 'twould seem Like said "Dear Jack for-give me I love you as of old Alpar - a - dise with - in that cot, Be - side the Old Mill stream The though to - night I'll wed - ded be All for the sake of gold Don't days passed all to quickly a call to du - ty came But ere I went she promised she'd curse me Jack in an - ger just pi - ty me I pray For 'tis to save my fa - ther I've ev - er be the same And though the years are ma - ny Since sold my - self this day Don't think I'm on - ly sel - fish As that sweet summer dream My heart remains for ev - er by The Old Mill Stream. this may to you seem My heart remains for ev - er by The Old Mill Stream.

CHORUS.

Now I won - der if she's think - ing of the hap - py days of old When she and I to - geth - er in the sum - mer ev' - nings strolled 'Mid the per - fume of the flow - ers 'neath the moonlights sil - v'ry beam While list'ning to the mur - m'ring of The Old Mill Stream.
