Talk a-bout news!—I've got a real sen - sa - tion,
Talk a-bout moons! here's one that starts you dane-ing,

I just can't hold — it now, just wait till I've told — it; You can talk of your blues — and jaz - zy You'll hol-ler, "Gim - me just a lit - tle more shim - my!" You can talk a - bout tunes, — here's one that syn - co - pa - tion, I'll put you wise, — I mean I'll o - pen your eyes. — Something has hap - starts you pranc-ing, Shaking your feet — to jaz - zy music so sweet. — Old hon-ey moons

— pened to the moon of Dix - ie, Since jazz time came — some how it don't act the same; — It seems to — you nev-er see them shin - ing, Old Un - cle Joe — is lov - in' old mammy Chloe; You'll see 'em mf shiv-er, quiv-er by the Swanee Riv-er, And there's no one seems to blame.

sing-ing, swinging to the ban-jos ring-ing While they holler out, "Let's go!"

CHORUS

p-f See that Shim-my Moon a-shining down, — Shimmy moon-beams dancing all a-round, p-f — my hon-ey. Darkies danc-ing till they shake the ground, — I got to go, oh!

hur-ry back to Dix-ie. Those shim-my-ing ba-bies with those shim-my-ing eyes —

(lightly)

Wait-ing to spread — some shimmy joy; boy! Good-bye, ev-'ry-one I'll see you soon in Dix-ie Un-der-neath the Shimmy Moon. Moon.
